The launch will be from Space Launch Complex 40 at the Cape Canaveral Space force Station. The first stage of the Falcon 9 booster is expected to land on a barge in the Atlantic Ocean off Charleston SC. The landing will be too far to see from launch viewing areas, though the upper atmosphere course correction burns might be visible about 7 minutes after launch.

SpaceX has articulated the explicit goal of providing broadband internet connectivity to underserved areas of the Earth, as well as to provide competitively-priced, low latency service to urban areas. Moreover, SpaceX has indicated that the positive cash flow from selling satellite internet services would be useful to fund SpaceX plans for Mars.
